The Policy of Academic Monitoring of Private Schools

September 2016
Introduction

According to the Ministerial decision no. (8) for the year 2009, which stipulates that all private schools must commit to teaching Arabic, Islamic studies for Qatari students and Qatari history for all students in private schools, the Ministry of Education and Higher Education is keen to provide private schools students with knowledge and information required for guiding their behavior, developing their personality as good Qatari citizens and promote Islamic and Arab values and culture.

The State of Qatar in its National Vision 2030 aims at building a world-class education system aligned with best international standards in which it allows citizens to develop their skills and potentials through providing professional development opportunities that prepares them for success. The system will also encourage analytical and critical thinking, as well as creativity and innovation. It will promote social cohesion and respect for Qatari society’s values and heritage, and will advocate for constructive interaction with other nations. For this purpose, the curriculum standards have been designed to include those three subjects, which constitute an important element of the education reform of the state of Qatar which identifies learning objectives, knowledge that need to be acquired by students at each grade level. In addition, these standards ensure that students are provided with a first-rate education comparable to that offered in the world to prepare learners to complete their higher education in leading institutions and compete in local and global labor market.
The Policy of Academic Monitoring of Private Schools

First: Main Principles of the Academic Policy:

Within the context of the efforts exerted by the Ministry of Education and Higher Education to ensure high quality teaching and learning within private schools and upon the agreements and licensing procedures of educational establishments, all private schools shall be committed to the following:

- Implement accredited international or national standard in the school's educational plan with the commitment to submit an official letter from the school in this regard.

- Appropriate selection of primary learning resources issued by the Ministry of Education and Higher Education as well as the secondary resources to ensure the effective delivery of the approved (national / international) standards.

- Commitment to the principles of the religion and the basics of the Qatari social and cultural heritage in the learning resources. No contradictory with the Islamic teachings and community values shall be allowed in the selected or school developed resources. In addition, content, drawings and figures shall be appropriate to the Islamic values and Qatari culture and traditions.

- Carry out revisions to ensure no violations – implicit or explicit - are in the content of the learning resources. In case violations are discovered, the Ministry of Education and Higher Education shall take legal actions against the violating school(s), in accordance with the Mistrial Decision number 8 for the year 2009 regarding the criteria and conditions for private schools.

- Private schools shall inform the Private Schools Affaires Department officially in writing about any changes to the approved standards to another education system in order to obtain the official approval.
Integrate the education stages clearly within the school annual education plan.

Commitment to teach and deliver the three subjects (namely Islamic Education, Arabic and Qatari history) and provide each student with the basic resources in all subjects as provided by the Ministry of Education and Higher Education in original copy (not xeroxed).

To adopt the annual educational plan for the three subjects in the school by the Educational Supervision Department of the Ministry of Education and Higher Education.

Introducing non-Muslim students to Islam through the provision of other sources of the subject areas such as Qatari history and the Arabic language.

Private schools should provide qualified personnel and expertise in the field of teaching the three subjects.

Second: Monitoring the implementation of delivering the three subjects in private schools.

(Islamic Education, Arabic language and Qatari History)

The ministerial decision no. (8) for the year 2009 included that studying of Islamic education, Arabic language and Qatari History is compulsory for all students in private schools in accordance with item (forth) below. This aims at enhancing national identity and values for students in private schools according to the aspirations of the Ministry of Education and Higher Education to instill citizenship values and principles.
Therefore, the Ministry of Education and Higher Education shall provide the needed support to private schools that teach these three subjects to assist them to improve school environment that would enhance their capacity for the optimal implementation for these subjects.

This policy explains the mechanism of supporting private schools by the Educational Supervision Department and the Private Schools Affairs Department, in terms of the provision of available resources and addresses all challenges that schools might face when implementing these subjects.

It is worth mentioning that support will be direct and specific i.e. targeting these three subject (Arabic language- Islamic Education – Qatari history). The design and implementation of support process aim at improving school’s performance in teaching these three subjects based on the students’ grade level.

Third: Private schools that implement the National Curriculum Standards:
